Agendas – Yours or Theirs?

By William Martin

Excerpt from The Parent's Tao Te Ching

If you push your children,
they will lose their balance.
If you are always running them here and there,
they will get nowhere.
If you put them in the spotlight,
they will be unable to see their own light.
If you seek to impose upon them
your own ideas of who they should be,
they will become nothing.

If you want them to thrive,
do what you can for their safety,
then let go.
